THE OLD SONG.

There is a garden sweet with rose and pink,
Where honeysuckle grows and virgin's bower,
Soft turf and shelter to the river's brink,
And in that garden grows my heart's white flower.

She moves about it like a living rose,
And from my boat as I come up the stream
I see, mid all the flowers her garden grows,
The living lily of her garments gleam.

At night I walk beside the darkling tide
Where the drowned stars among the lilies stir,
See her bright window on the farther side
And bless the happy roof that shelters her.

And when I touch that fair, enchanted land
Among the roses in the sunlit noon
She comes to me and takes me by the hand,
And life's a song and love, true love, the tune.

—Fall Mail Gazette.

THE LEAD SOLDIER.

It was a little before the revolution. At Brienne, attending the military school, was a young man who amused himself in the evenings by drilling lead foot soldiers. Everybody laughed at him, but, regardless of their mockery, he took great delight in reviewing his soldiers when ready for battle, and, radiant, led them to imaginary victories. His schoolmates called him fool and enthusiast. He listened to them with his large, dreamy eyes opened wide, and, smiling, continued to direct his diminutive army.

This was his sole enjoyment. More earnest than the others, he worked all day, even during the hour of recreation. When evening came, as recreation he took the little soldiers from their boxes, and, talking to them as he would to human beings, he reviewed them.

One evening, after having worked harder than usual, the young man sat listlessly drilling his soldiers. He was evidently tired. As he leaned on the table he saw one of his lead soldiers turn toward a comrade and say these words:

"It seems to me that the emperor is very tired tonight."

The young man started. He rubbed his eyes, believing it to be a dream; but no, he was wide awake.

"This is," thought he, "a hallucination."

And he put his soldiers, one by one, into their boxes.

When the boxes were closed, he made his way to his bed. He was about to retire when he heard behind him a tiny voice murmur:

"The emperor is very tired tonight."

He turned around, but saw he was alone.

Vaguely frightened he said the three words:

"Who has spoken?"

"I," murmured a little voice.

"Who are you?"

"I have no name. I am a very little lead soldier."

The frightened young man looked at the boxes of soldiers scattered about on the table and distinctly saw that one of the covers was moving.

He approached the table and spied one of the soldiers standing upright on a comrade and looking at him as he made a military bow. Then the young fellow threw himself on his bed, wishing to see or hear no more. He thought he was going crazy.

A few years later this young man was made captain of the artillery.

At Toulon he fought the English, distinguishing himself as one of the bravest, astonishing his troops by his daring and his science, amazing his superiors by his courage and his unflinching designs. After several weeks Toulon was taken. The victorious army entered the city, and for the first time since the campaign the young captain fell into a deep sleep.

He who always slept armed, he who awakened at the slightest noise, slept like this? It was because he knew his work was accomplished; he had the right to take a moment's rest. During the night he dreamed that he was at Brienne, playing with his little lead soldiers, and he distinctly saw one of them salute him in a military style and say:

"The emperor is very tired tonight."

The captain awoke, and, rubbing his eyes, saw that it was broad daylight. He arose, dressed and went out, dreamily murmuring:

"Emperor, emperor! Might it not be possible? Does the little lead soldier speak truly?"

Then he heard a tiny voice murmur at his side:

"The little lead soldier cannot be deceived."

He turned in the direction whence came the voice and saw, perched on a pebble, a tiny lead soldier saluting and looking at him steadily.

In the next instant the apparition vanished.

The pupil at Brienne, the captain at Toulon, Napoleon Bonaparte, is emperor. He has been crowned this very morning, and this evening he received the ambassadors of other nations and the generals of the armies. He is exhausted.

Adjoining his superb reception room is a small cell furnished with a camp bed and one chair.

Disdaining the grand bed of state, he retires to his cell. There, at least, he can sleep.

He falls asleep.

And now in a dream he sees his lead soldier of old, who again murmurs:

"The emperor is very tired tonight."

The emperor starts. Then he asks:

"Who spoke?"

"I," says a weak voice.

"Who are you?"

"I have no name. I am a tiny lead soldier."

The emperor reflects a moment, then suddenly says:

"You have no name. Do you want one?"

"I do indeed, sire."

"Very well; you shall be called L'Etoile."

"Good, sire. What shall I be?"

The Trans-Mississippi and International Congress is composed of delegates from every State and Territory West of the Mississippi river. The idea of this exposition originated in that Congress at its session at Omaha in 1895, and the project has become a National enterprise and the National Commission has been organized and is in active service, there being one commissioner for each of the several departments of the Government. Most of the Trans-Mississippi States are well along in the way of gathering exhibits from their respective States and many of them have made liberal appropriations, while others are preparing exhibits through private enterprise.

Vice-President H. B. Maxson of Reno, has made arrangements whereby he can get Nevada exhibits, shipped from any point in the State along the line of the C. P. R. R., to Omaha and return, and he requests all persons who wish the interests of the State advanced, to co-operate with the Exposition County Commissioner of his county, whose name is shown above, and prepare some product of his county and send it to the nearest point on the C. P. R. R. from which place it will be sent to Omaha and exhibited, and returned to the same point at the close of the exposition, free of expense to the exhibitor. Full information should accompany everything sent for exhibition. Before sending anything to the line of the railroad a full description should be given to the Exposition Commissioner of the county, who in turn will notify the Vice-President, who will notify him what action to take, otherwise there might be many duplications. Apply to your County Representative for further information, and don't let this opportunity of advertising the resources of Nevada be lost.

DISAGREE ON THE BOND ISSUE

The House of Representatives, as was to be expected, passed a war revenue bill, which provides among other things, for the issuance of $500,000,000 in bonds. This bill was referred to the Finance Committee in the Senate, and that committee does not agree on the bond issue. The Republican members of the committee, with the exception of Wolcott of Colorado, favor the bond clause, while the Democratic members and Senator Jones of Nevada, are opposed to it.

The Republicans say that partisan politics should not be introduced into war measures, but at the same time give the lie to the assertion by making no provision for coining the bullion in the Treasury, which can be done without injuring person or section at a great profit to the country. Instead of using the mints in coining useless bullion into constitutional legal tender money, which will pass at its nominal value in all parts of the country, they want to issue interest-bearing bonds, which will not increase the circulating medium one dollar, but which will enrich the gold syndicate by many millions at the expense of the people generally.

If it is partisan to oppose such nefarious legislation, then it is to be hoped that the Senate, in the interest of the great masses of the people, will be sufficiently partisan to defeat the scheme.

No American citizen worthy of the name will oppose the issuance of interest-bearing bonds, however much it may enrich the gold trust, when it becomes necessary to do so to prosecute the war; but they do it now when $100,000,000 worth of silver bars owned by the Government and paid for by the people, can be converted by minting into full legal tender, bright, new dollars?

It devolves upon the Senators who are not under obligations to the gold trust to see that the people are protected during the excitement incident to the war. They should not permit the money sharks to take advantage of the spirit of patriotism which now permeates the masses, and permit the enactment of laws which will give the money syndicate a firmer grasp upon the public purse. The man who is willing to risk their lives for their country are entitled to at least as much consideration by our law makers as the men whose only desire is to profit by the requirements of the Government in the war with Spain.

GREATEST NAVAL VICTORY OF THE AGE.

Commodore, now Rear-Admiral, Dewey of the Asiatic Squadron, United States Navy, has achieved the greatest naval victory of the age, and, all things considered, of modern times. With nine vessels, none of which are battleships, and several of which are gunboats, he annihilated the Spanish squadron of thirteen vessels and took the forts at the entrance of the harbor of Manila, all without the loss of a man or a vessel under his command.

This achievement Admiral Dewey accomplished thousands of miles from a friendly port on the west side of the Pacific Ocean where defeat would mean the annihilation of his ships and his men.

The official report of the gallant Dewey states that he and his brave men can take possession of Manila as the harbor and defenses are under his control. He wants 2,000 men to garrison the forts, and they will be sent him as quick as steam can take them from San Francisco to Manila. Dewey's name will be inscribed on the roll of heroes as one of the bravest and most successful naval commanders of this or any other age, and another such victory by Admiral Sampson on the Atlantic will make the United States mistress of the seas and place them in a position to command the respect of all nations.

The Seventh New York, the aristocratic regiment of the Empire State, has declined to join the volunteers. The regiment is made up principally of scions of wealthy families, and they want to stay at home to protect the property of their rich "daddies" who, it is estimated, represent from $500,000,000 to $700,000,000.

The United States troops and Cuban insurgents have fought their first battle with the Spaniards, and whipped them. The Stars and Stripes and the Cuban flag were carried by the allies and after the battle floated side by side on the ground from which the Spaniards had been driven.

The Powers are not aware that Uncle Sam has a navy.

DEWEY'S VICTORY.

Unparalleled In The World's History.

Captures The Spanish Fleet And Controls Manila Without Losing a Man.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The Navy Department received the long expected cablegram from Commodore Dewey at 9:50 this morning. It was in cipher consisting of four or five lines and read as follows:

"MANILA, May 1.—Squadron arrived at Manila at daybreak this morning and immediately engaged the enemy and destroyed the following Spanish warships: Reina Christine, Oastilla, Ullora, Isabela Cuba, General Nezo, El Duero Correo, Velasco and Mindana, one transport and the water battery at Cavite. Squadron is uninjured and only a few men slightly wounded. Only means of communicating is through the American Consul at Hong Kong. Shall communicate with him. Dewey."

A second dispatch was received at Washington this morning as follows:

CAVITE, May 4.—I have taken possession of the Naval Station at Cavite. Have destroyed fortifications at the bay entrance and paroled the garrison. I command the bay and can take the city at any time. The squadron is in excellent health and spirits. The enemy's loss is one hundred and fifty killed, including the captain of the Reina Christine. I am assuring protection to the Spanish sick and wounded. Two hundred and fifty sick and wounded in the hospital within our lines. I will protect foreign residents. Dewey."

BALTIMORE, May 7.—Captain Dyer of the United States cruiser Baltimore sent a telegram to the Mayor of Baltimore today from Hong Kong reporting no men of the crew killed.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—More dispatches are hourly expected from Commodore Dewey. It is believed that he wrote several dispatches but did not send them at once, waiting two or three days until he was positive of his situation and complete victory.

By direction of the President, Secretary Long sent the following cable to Commodore Dewey.

WASHINGTON, May 7. Dewey, Manila.—The President in the name of the United States thanks you and your officers and men for your splendid achievement and overwhelming victory. In recognition of your services I nominate you as Admiral and recommend a vote of thanks to you by Congress. LONG.

NEW KIND OF ALFALFA.

A special agent of the agricultural department has recently returned from Eastern Europe and Asia, having secured a large quantity of seeds from the countries which it is expected will be of great value in the arid regions of this country. Among the seeds secured was that of a new variety of alfalfa, which is especially adapted to dry regions. Of this the report says: "In Central Asia a marked feature of the agriculture was found to be the native alfalfa, which is a distinct subspecies of the common alfalfa and greatly superior to it in extent of root system and capacity for resisting drought and heat. This has been shown by actual trial side by side in Turkistan. It has been introduced by the Russian Government into the dry steppes in European Russia and is also coming into cultivation in Southern Siberia."

As alfalfa is one of the principal crops of this State, this may prove to be an important discovery to the farmers of Nevada.

It is proposed to raise the Spanish vessels sunk at Manila to prevent them from falling into the hands of Admiral Dewey. Machinery for the purpose will be sent from San Francisco.

RENO PATRIOTIC.

Commodore Dewey's Victory Appropriately Recognized.

Early yesterday morning the news came that Commodore Dewey's report had been received at Washington and that it proclaimed even a greater victory at Manila than had been anticipated. The bulletins were watched anxiously by crowds and when the first came telling briefly how he had entered the port of Manila in the face of the enemy and had captured the Spanish fleet the enthusiasm began to spread and when the next announcement was posted that he had not lost a man in the engagement, notwithstanding the battle was so fierce that he had to sink eight of the enemy's warships and destroy the fortifications of the city, the people could not resist an expression of profound approval in something more than ordinary favorable comment.

Assessor Evans, "Old Pete," was young again and, with his usual determination, proposed to paint the town red and he started out on his own hook to raise the necessary funds for bonfires, music, powder, etc. Those whom Pete called upon subscribed liberally and the funds were soon in hand. Dr. Stubbs was soon enlisted in the movement and the demonstration was assured.

Piles of wood were placed on the plaza for bonfires, arrangements were made for the artillery detachment at the University to fire appropriate salutes and anvils were secured to add to the din. The Cadet Corps, Company C, civic societies and citizens generally were invited to participate.

Promptly at 8:30 the cannon at the University began to boom the National salute, quickly followed by the Admiral's salute in honor of Admiral Dewey, whose promotion to that rank is assured. The Reno Wheelmen's, Company C and Cadet Corps bands consolidated their members in one band and led the procession, which was formed on the plaza in the presence of fully 3,000 spectators. The line of march took the battalion through the principal streets amidst the booming of cannon, cracking of anvils and hearty cheering from the crowds lining the streets. At the junction of Virginia street and Commercial Row the procession was halted and President Stubbs called the vast assemblage to order, stating the purpose of the gathering and demonstration. He then introduced Dr. Patterson as the first speaker, who was followed by Judge Cheney, Hon. S. Summerfield and Rev. B. F. Huddleson, each of whom spoke eloquently of the occasion, the wonderful achievement of Admiral Dewey and the patriotism of Americans, the love of their country and flag and the fact that a foreign enemy would find no North, no South, no East and no West, but a united people one and inseparable. President Stubbs closed the meeting with a short address in the same strain as that of the other speakers.

Clevers were given at intervals for Admiral Dewey, the Navy, the Army and the old G. A. R. veterans and each speaker was complimented with the University yell and cheers.

In connection with the demonstration the fact must not be overlooked that the business houses generally displayed bunting and flags in profusion in honor of one of the greatest victories in history.

Reception at the Twentieth Century Club.

The May festival given by the ladies of the Twentieth Century Club last evening was a most enjoyable affair. The guests were welcomed by a pleasing address by the President, Mrs. Michael, followed with an overture by the High School Orchestra. A much enjoyed solo was given by Miss Layton after which three of Mrs. Logan's wee pupils gave a concert recitation about the calico cat and gingham dog. The tots were Bobbie Smith, Marion De Hart and Harry Cross and received a hearty encore and gave a cute response. Charles Loder was in fine voice and after a delightful solo, responded to a unanimous encore. A humorous recitation by Miss Loder produced considerable mirth and a splendid quartette by Messrs. Julien, Leonard, Corris and Julien was well received, the audience showing their appreciation by two encores. Miss F. Roche favored the audience with a pretty solo responding to an encore.

At the conclusion of the program, dancing was indulged in for a couple of hours after which all partook of daintily arranged refreshments. The dining hall, with Miss Layton as decorator, was certainly artistic. Palms and cut flowers were in profusion and a large number of banquet lamps added to the beauty. Mrs. S. Summerfield as the hostess of the evening presided over the tables, assisted by a number of ladies, and proved to be an excellent one in the place. Mrs. Layton prepared the entertainment for the evening and the manner in which it was received told of her ability, as every number was a gem. All expressed themselves as having had an exceedingly pleasant evening. This closes the literary work of the year. A business meeting will be held in two weeks for the election of officers for the ensuing year. The Club will take a vacation of three months, beginning again in September.

NEVADA VS STANFORD.

The Latter carries off the Honors by One Point.

The Stanford University team numbering fourteen arrived on yesterday morning's train for the purpose of contesting athletic events with the Nevada University team. At an early hour everything was energy and bustle among the University boys in anticipation of the arrival and preparations to entertain their guests. The California boys were received at the train and escorted to the University and there entertained until the afternoon hours when the various events were to take place.

At noon the busmen began to enliven the streets with the familiar cry "all aboard for the race track, going right out," and groups of people young and old were to be seen on every hand with the University colors conspicuously displayed on the breast or hat and nearly everyone seemed to be off on a holiday and bound for the fair grounds. There was a large attendance at the track and the audience entered into the enthusiasm and gave hearty approval to the victors in the various contests.

The Nevada boys deserve credit for redeeming themselves yesterday for while they did not win on the general average they showed great improvement and in some of the events their records astonished the Californians and they admitted it freely and had nothing to crow over. A total of the points made gave Stanford one over Nevada.

The high jump between Hoffman of Berkeley and Morgan of Stanford was a feature. Both quit at 5 feet 9 inches. These athletes tied in the recent Berkeley-Stanford contest. Mr. Hoffman also gave an exhibition of pole vaulting.

A reception was held in honor of the visitors, at the University last evening. The boys took the train for home last night.

A Challenged Game of Basket-Ball.

The wives of the Faculty of the University of Nevada organized a basketball team a couple of weeks ago and have challenged the first nine of the University of Nevada girls to a game to take place Monday afternoon in the Gymnasium.

A practice game was held Friday afternoon and from indications the girls will have to do considerable work on Monday if they score any points. The score stood 0 to 0, which is a fine showing for the ladies as they have had very little practice and to keep the girls from making a point required hard playing. Agility is the prime factor and in this the Faculty team is quite up to the University nine. As a result of the game both sides fared about the same; on one side a girl was knocked a little scarce of wind, and on the other a bandaged hand left the "gym."

The ladies have taken up this basketball practice to arouse more of an interest in athletics among the young lady students and they already feel the benefit themselves, to be derived from such practice. Any one opposed to athletics for women should not fail to attend Monday's game and see for themselves what it can do for their sex.

By mutual agreement of the teams it has been decided to admit only those in feminine attire, so boys if you want to go, and we all know you do, skirts and new spring bonnets will have to be purchased and—twenty-five cents admission. By the way boys, the armory is to be closed that day, all guns must be in their racks before two o'clock and if any are needed after that hour you will have to wait until after the game is over, as no interruptions will be permitted. Friday evening though, the boys who were so unfortunate as to be compelled to put away their guns, were very circumspect. They carried their heads in a very soldierly manner, but their eyes were not always "to the front."

Those who have not seen a game of basket-ball should be there and those who have seen one, we know will be there on Monday. The admission is small, 25 cents.

A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can take it who has lame back and weak kidneys, malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to liver and kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures constipation, head ache, fainting spells, sleeplessness and melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.
